

Facilitates the Adaptation of Cats and Kittens to Changes in their Environment and Helps Avoid Unwanted Behaviors Associated with Stress

Composition:

Feline Facial Pheromone Analog (F3)	5 %
Valerian extract	1 %

Recommended Use:

- Promotes a state of calm in cats and facilitates adaptation of the animal to stressful situations, helping to avoid unwanted behaviors associated with stress:
 - Urinary marking.
 - Changes in your environment (adoption, moving, vacations, stay in residences, etc.) or in the environment (firecrackers, fireworks, etc.)
 - Travel (visits to the vet, trips in car/cage, etc.).
 - Fears.
 - Conflicts between cats.
 - Scratching (scratches).
 - Excessive vocalization.

How to use:

Diffuser and Refill

Connect the diffuser 24 to 48 hours before a potentially stressful situation for the cat in the place where the animal spends most of its time. Unscrew and remove the refill cap*. Screw the refill into the diffuser and plug into a wall outlet, keeping the refill in vertical position. Press the button to start it; to stop, push the button again. After use, unplug the diffuser without removing the refill.

The duration of the refill is approximately 30 days.*

Spray

Hold the container upright and spray 10 cm from the desired surface. Do not spray directly on the animal.

	Application frequency	Application area
Urinary marking	6 sprays; 1 time a day	Marked area
Excessive Scratching	2 sprays; 3 times a day	Cover the entire scratched area
New environment	2-3 sprays, 1-2 hours before the arrival of the cat	On the sharp objects, furniture and door corners of the rooms
Travels in car	According to needs	Directly inside the car
Travel in cage	1 to 2 sprays	On corners, ceiling and floor of the cage, as well as on the objects inside the cage

*Long-term trips

Repeat the application every 4-5 hours or as soon as the signs of stress reappear

You may also like:

Presentation:

Diffuser + Refill 48 ml

Refill 48 ml

Spray 60 ml

Characteristics:

- Reinforced Formula: with Analog of Feline Facial Pheromone (F3) which, in synergy with Valerian Extract, enhances its action and contributes to the cat wellness in situations associated with stress.
- Feline Pheromones are secreted naturally through body glands. The cats communicate with each other and with their environment through them, creating an environment of well-being that calms and reassures them.
- Valerian acts as a natural relaxant, helping to calm stress and anxiety.
- Characteristic smell of Valerian.
- Punctual or prolonged use.
- Suitable for all races and ages.
- 3 presentations to fit all situations and needs.
- ACALMA® Cats is not a medicine and does not produce sedative effects.